MEN ENTERING YALE

will be interested in its history. Traditions that go back two hundred years are a part of what makes Yale University so worth while.

In THE BEGINNINGS OF YALE, Mr. Edwin Oviatt, Editor of the Yale Alumni Weekly, has told the very early history of the college. The book has 105 charming pen and ink sketches, one of them of Miles Tavern, the first predecessor of the Hotel Taft.

In YALE YESTERDAYS are delightful accounts of the Wooden Spoon Prom, early days of football and baseball, old campus characters, etc., told by an enthusiastic alumnus, Clarence Deming.

Both books will help to form a background to a course at Yale which a man would appreciate permanently.

A catalogue describing other books of interest to Yale men, as well as works of a more universal appeal, will be sent upon request.

THE BEGINNINGS OF YALE. By Edwin Oviatt. Price $3.50 net, postpaid.

YALE YESTERDAYS. By Clarence Deming. Price $2.25 net, postpaid.

PHILLIPS ACADEMY

ANDOVER MASSACHUSETTS

FOUNDED at Andover, Mass., 1778, by the gifts of Hon. Samuel Phillips and his uncle, Hon. John Phillips. Others have added to the original foundations by endowments of several kinds, and various scholarships have been established. The total endowment is $1,262,000.

☞ Phillips Academy has established very high repute for its broad scholarship, for its elevated ideals, and especially for the practical success which has been attained by its students.

☞ In all the leading professions and every useful avenue of endeavor, its alumni are found among leaders. In all the great colleges, and particularly Yale and Harvard, the graduates of this Academy have for years been distinguished for their thoroughness of preparation and success in their college work. The academy has also done a useful work in the education of boys who have not gone to college. Especially is it distinguished for its American, democratic spirit, the sons of the wealthiest men in the country mingling with boys who are working their way through school.

☞ The courses of the Academy have thoroughly adjusted and adapted themselves to the highest collegiate requirements. The ability of its faculty, the excellence of its equipment, its library and laboratory facilities, the prestige of honorable history and other advantages and achievements have placed Phillips Academy in the front rank of American schools.

FOR FULL PARTICULARS ADDRESS:

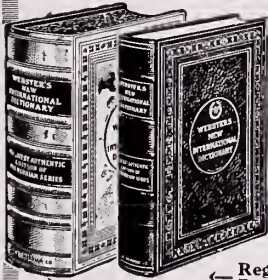

Alfred E. Stearns, M.A., B.D., Principal, Phillips Academy

The Junior Year

---

EARLY in September, 1913, the Class of 1917, one hundred strong, made its first appearance on the Hill. We were at once greeted enthusiastically by the preps of the previous year, who called us the freshest and dumbest class they had ever seen. We were left alone, however, when football started, and as the term progressed our friends increased.

In October the first Founders Day was celebrated, ex-President Taft and former Secretary of War Stimson being the principal speakers. At length came the Exeter football game in which Captain Murray's team was defeated.

The winter term was marred by the death of our greatest benefactor, Melville Cox Day, who had recently given to the school, Taylor Hall, one of the best of our new dormitories.

Hockey relations were started with Exeter, and the first game played between the two schools was unfortunately a defeat for Andover.

The swimming team, the best that has ever represented the school, covered itself with glory, winning every schedule meet and setting a new Interscholastic record in the relay. Towards the end of the term the Dramatic Club presented Sowing Wild Oats, and, soon after, a joint concert with Exeter was given by the Musical Clubs.

In the spring term, much to our regret, we were defeated twice by our New Hampshire rivals. Despite the string of ill success, we left school happy; happy because our hardest year was over and because three more enjoyable years were before us.

Recalling the men who were in school in 1913 who will graduate with us now, we find only fourteen left of the original one hundred. These are "Bob" Shedden, "Don" Townley, "Jim" Eaton, "Tom" Joyce, "Bridge" Adams, "Dan" Harvey, "Bill" Russell, "Hal" Helliwell, Howard Stearns, "Herb" Humphrey, "Mac" McLanahan, "Aub" Russell, "Doc" Piazza, and "Willy" Wilder.

The Lower Middle Year

WHEN we returned in the Fall of 1914, our interest was centered on the football team which was captained by Avery. It had a fairly successful preliminary season, but when matched against Exeter, the tide completely turned and our team went down to a bad defeat. W. Russell represented 1917 on the team.

On the night of December 8, Bartlet Hall was completely gutted by fire. Fortunately no lives were lost, or any serious accidents occurred, probably due to the prompt work of the students.

The soccer team under Captain Davison had a very good season, winning all but two of their games. The hockey team was handicapped by poor ice, and was defeated by Exeter in a well-fought game. Nineteen seventeen was represented by Crane. The relay team handed Exeter the first defeat of the year at the B. A. A. games. The wrestling team also turned out to be very efficient under Captain Basso; W. Russell, A. Russell, and Dyer representing 1917.

On March 13, the Musical Clubs gave their combined concert with Exeter, and on the following Friday the Dramatic Club presented an excellent production, The Bells.

During the spring term, our attention was turned to track and baseball. Captain Prescott led the track team to victory in all the preliminary contests, and on May 31, we defeated Exeter 54 to 41. There we witnessed our first celebration. A. Russell represented 1917.

The first part of the season was very encouraging for the baseball team, but on June 5 it went down to a 10 to 2 defeat at the hands of Exeter. Crane, Wilson and Brennan were the representatives of 1917 on the team.

Having successfully passed off our final examinations, we brought a very happy year to a close.

Upper Middle Year

OUR summer vacation over, we again boarded the old B. and M., and an hour later put in our appearance at Andover as Upper Middlers. Although the first few days seemed rather hard for some of us, especially after having just left home, we were soon deeply enveloped in our work and surroundings and thus left all fond memories behind.

Our attention was chiefly centered on football. The team had, at the beginning of the season, very little material to work with. However, under the coaching of Mr. Lillard, a good defensive team was produced. The eleven won its first game by defeating Cushing 13 to 0, but the remainder of the season, unfortunately proved quite unsuccessful, and Andover succumbed to Exeter in the final game. We congratulate that team, however, for the great fight it put up, for the splendid way in which it accepted the defeat. Those from the 1917 class who played were: Captain Gleason, W. Russell, A. Russell, Rowe, Davis, Waters, Boltwood, Wilson, Wanamaker and Wolfe. The other fall sports, soccer and cross-country, passed through a very successful season. The term was now well advanced, and it was necessary that we should devote the remainder of the time to plugging for exams. Thus closed the fall term of our Middle year, and we all heartily agreed that it was a most enjoyable one.

Now began the most tedious term, the one which really tests a fellow, and makes him work hard to keep a good record. During this winter term we were greatly interested in the relay, hoekey, swimming, and wrestling teams, many of our class-mates representing Andover in these sports. Although the relay and hockey teams were both defeated by Exeter, the swimming and wrestling teams were carried through excellent seasons.

The gym was, on the evening of February 22, the scene of a splendid Promenade. The committee had worked hard to make it a success, and there is no doubt but that their efforts were rewarded. After having given a concert at Rogers Hall, the Musical Clubs joined with Exeter in a combined concert, held at the town hall. Those who heard were, indeed, highly pleased. And so the winter, with its various events of interest, came to a close on the thirtieth of March.

We all returned to Andover in the spring with light hearts, for the spring is always greeted with enthusiasm. There were many big happenings throughout the term, in which we were either occupied or interested. In track, as well as in football, there was very little material to work with. Consequently the team was overcome by Exeter, although under the coaching of Mr. Blanchard, it was steadily improving. We honored Captain A. Russell, Gleason, Thompson, Morse, Shedden and Eaton as members of our class on the team.

The baseball team was so successful in its preliminary games, and showed such good form and team work, that our hopes for a victory were keyed to the very highest pitch. The team, due to the coaching of Mr. Quinby and the captaincy of Faherty, had become very fast, and, consequently, when it ran out on Brothers Field one sunny afternoon to meet Exeter, we all knew an exciting game was to ensue. And we were right, for the "old-timers" who have witnessed these games year in and year out, generally agreed they had never seen a better and closer game. We were defeated by Exeter, 2 to 1. Brennan, Warren, Wilson, Crane and Allen were those of the 1917 class, who played on the team. The tennis team, as usual, defeated Exeter. Now that all those sports were over, the college entrance exams, were looming up like a mountain before our eyes.

This, our Middle year, we considered quite proudly. We had two major captains from our class — something very unusual and were well represented in all fields of sports. Accordingly, when we turned our faces homeward, we were bent on making our Senior year as successful as our Middle one.

D. C. DINES

Senior Year

WHEN our last school year dawned on us, we were three weeks late in starting on account of an epidemic of infantile paralysis. Only one slight case developed among the students, which speaks very highly for the care taken by the school officials in preventing any spread of the disease.

Good football material was placed at the disposal of our new coach, Fred Daly, P. A. '07. Although it was hard to get the men into shape in such a short time, the team had a very successful season. The Exeter game was played on a slippery field and our comparatively light team went down to defeat. However, it showed that old fighting Andover spirit in the game and — we do not desire to belittle Exeter's victory — played "circles" around its opponents. We are proud of the fact that our class contributed to the team Captain Russell and ten other of its members. The soccer team, considering the lack of material, made a surprisingly good showing under the guidance of Captain Coburn.

The Peabody Assembly dances have been a great success thus far, making life a little easier during the hard winter term, which is tedious at its best. The combined Musical Clubs gave their annual concert at Rogers Hall and were delightfully entertained with a supper and dance. That which is always looked forward to as the greatest event of the year — the Junior Prom — was a great success and reflects a full amount of glory on the class of 1918 and the members of the committee.

Both the swimming and hockey teams did excellent work during the season, the latter having beaten our New Hampshire rivals for the first time in the history of that sport. The baseball and track squads, during the winter, have been hard at work under the direction of Coaches Quinby and Blanchard, respectively, who are whipping the candidates into shape for two successful campaigns against Exeter in the spring.

With all the sadness which any fellow feels when he leaves his best friend, we turn our thoughts to the time when we are to leave the hill; some on our way to college and some going out to buck the world. It will not seem so hard, if we feel that we have cut our niche the highest on the cliff of true, upright Andover spirit, which we hope will be upheld with the greatest dignity and honor by our successors — the class of 1918.

Musicals

THE Combined Musical Clubs held their trials shortly after the opening of school in the Fall, and a large number of candidates reported. Although made up for the most part of new members, the clubs soon became well organized under skilful coaching and able leadership, and were thoroughly prepared for their first concert, which was given at Rogers Hall, Lowell, on December 9. The concert, which was extremely successful, was followed by a supper and dance, which concluded the evening's entertainment.

On Saturday, February 10, an informal dance was given for the girls of Rogers Hall at Peabody House. Dancing started at three o'clock in the afternoon and lasted until half past seven, with an intermission for supper.

The season was closed on March 10, when the combined Andover-Exeter musical clubs held their tenth annual joint concert in the Exeter Town Hall. The Andover Clubs acquitted themselves admirably before a large audience, and in all respects upheld the standard of the clubs of past years. After the concert the Andover clubs were invited to Webster Hall, where they were entertained by the members of the Exeter clubs.

On March 26, a double quartet selected from the Glee Club sang at the annual banquet given by the Boston Alumni Association.

Society of Inquiry

THE highest degree of true Christianity in a man can be obtained only through constant effort to perfect himself physically, mentally and morally. These three; Body, Mind and Spirit, work in unison, and when one is lacking, the full strength of the other two is greatly diminished.

The aim of the Society has been to promote the first of these three requisites, and in so doing, to co-operate with the school in the endeavor to attain the development of true Christian character. The success of such an endeavor can be based only on the actual results which are, perhaps, too abstract to estimate; however, if the significance of Christianity has been made real to any, few or many, the work has not been in vain.

In the main the efforts of Inquiry have been directed toward stimulating an active interest in the spirit of service in the school; toward the promotion of a morally clean atmosphere; and toward establishing a philanthropical work not immediately connected with the Academy. In these phases of work the Society may claim to have been reasonably successful.

NORTHFIELD

Last June Phillips Academy, under the auspices of the Society of Inquiry, sent a delegation of sixteen members to the Student Conference at Northfield. An active part was taken by the men in the Bible and Discussion groups and the interest for this year's work was, through this medium, greatly stimulated.

The following made up the delegation: E. Speer, G. Bartlett, H. C. Wilson, C. P. Gould, W. B. McDonald, W. E. Stevenson, H. T. Day, E. Hale, D. P. Hatch, W. B. Smith, R. B. Whittier, W. R. Howe, G. Hood, G. M. English, R. F. Shedden, and Mr. Pfatteicher, who was the Conference organist.

Literary

CONTRARY to the well established custom that all entering classes remain unidentified with any literary organization of the school during their first year at Andover, the Class of 1917 began to show its ability very early in its career. In the Junior year the Phillipian was the first to receive the benefits of its talent, Elbridge Adams being elected to the board in the spring term.

With this as a beginning, the Class returned in 1914 determined to gain the renown which its talent merited. Elbridge Adams was made Assistant Business Manager of the POT POURRI, while Richard Lumpkin secured a similar position on the Mirror Board. A. D. Harvey and S. Y. Hord were in the cast of the Dramatic Club, which presented The Bells at the Town Hall with great success. On the Phillipian Board Elbridge Adams and A. D. Harvey were the representatives. The latter was also a member of the Philo Debating Team, which won the annual Philo-School Debate held on February 5.

In the Upper Middle year the Class showed its true strength, being represented in every branch of literary activity. Elbridge Adams, A. D. Harvey, Harlan Cooley, C. H. Bradley, and Robert Stevens were on the Phillipian Board, with Duer McLanahan as Assistant Business Manager. A. A. Piazza was one of the Means Prize speakers. Richard Lumpkin was Business Manager of the Mirror and Frank Dowd one of the Assistant Editors. The POT POURRI Board was chiefly composed of 1917 men: Elbridge Adams was Business Manager, Charles Bradley Assistant Managing Editor, and E. M. King Assistant Business Manager. On the Dramatic Club the Class was represented by S. Y. Hord and R. A. Lumpkin, but the play, Charlie's Aunt, which it had been planned to produce, was finally given up because of the inability of two members of the cast to take part.

During the Senior year, 1917 has predominated in the literary side of school life, more than fulfilling the promise of the three foregoing years of her career. Charles H. Bradley was Managing Editor of the POT POURRI, Edward King was Business Manager, J. M. Wright, Art Editor, and Richard Lumpkin Assistant Art Editor. Harlan Cooley was Managing Editor of the Phillipian, Duer McLanahan was Business Manager, and the Senior Editors were Elbridge Adams, A. D. Harvey, Charles H. Bradley, Robert Stevens, and H. M. Ufford. The Mirror was managed by Frank Dowd and D. C. Townley, Frederick Thompson being an Assistant Editor. Those who competed for the Means Prizes were: Richard Lumpkin, Robert Stevens, Frederick Thompson, E. O. Richards, R. T. Rich, and W. S. Clark.

Reviewing the literary activities of 1917 during her four years on the Hill, one finds an enviable record of work accomplished that has been of an exceptionally high standard.

ATHLETICS

1916-1917

Athletics

THE story 1917 must tell of her athletic career is the tale of a martyr. She has contributed a lion's share of men to the varsity teams and, as yet, has seen only one victory over Exeter. Yet she has been able through all these defeats to keep the old fighting spirit where graduates are proud to see it and has fought the fight of the under dog with a smile of determination and a spirit of optimism. Never for a moment has she been accused of giving anything but her best.

When we came to Andover in the fall of 1913 and saw Billie Murray and his team, filled with the spirit of eight years of victory, pounding themselves into shape on Brothers Field, it seemed to us new men that Andover was indeed impregnable. But as we watched the season advance and saw our heroes — for truly they were heroes to us — defeated by Yale Freshmen, Harvard Freshmen, and others of the preliminary season, and, finally, go down to a 59 to 0 defeat before Exeter, the grief we swallowed can better be imagined than expressed.

But youth is full of hope. The depression made by the gridiron disappointment was not of long duration. We realized that victory over Exeter was not an hereditary accomplishment, but an annual achievement, and remembered that there were still two chances left to defeat Exeter before the year was over.

The track team began its training early in the winter. We watched with interest the development of a wrestling team led by Mac Baldrige and coached by Cyclone Burns. We saw "Babe" Allen's swimming team go through a very successful season. But we were reminded again of the thorn in our side when our hockey team, captained by Bob Paradise, was defeated by Exeter, 4 to 1.

Now all eyes were turned on Fred Swett and Cliff Rodman, but all were again disappointed. The baseball team was defeated 7 to 0, and the track team 59 to 37. The only feature of note was a new record of 23 feet 4 3-4 inches established by Prescott in the broad jump.

We started off the fall of 1914 by defeating Cushing 7 to 0, but lost all the other games of the season. Exeter defeated us 78 to 7. Sid Gould and Bill Russell represented our class. It was Exeter's first victory at Andover in ten years. Our touchdown was made by a forward pass from Fitzgerald to Gould. Gus Avery captained the team.

The winter term was much more successful. Our relay team won from Exeter. Captain Fitzgerald's swimming team won seven out of eight meets. Basso's wrestling team won four out of five meets. We had Jim Dyer, A. Russell and

W. Russell on the wrestling team. But again our hockey team, led by Tom Ashley, was defeated by Exeter. Score, 5 to 0. Crane was our representative.

In the spring our track team won the Harvard Interscholastics. Captain Prescott made a new interscholastic record of 23 feet 3 inches in the broad jump. Rodman equalled the old record of 16 seconds established in 1914 in the high hurdles. The interscholastic victory was followed by a 54 to 41 victory over Exeter. Prescott took three first places and broke the 220 high hurdle record. Our class was represented by Winters, Swift, A. Russell, and Burrill.

Our tennis team also won the Harvard Interscholastics and defeated Exeter 4 to 3.

Captain Butterfield, however, after leading his baseball team through five victories out of possible seven, went down to a 10 to 2 defeat before Exeter. We had Brennan, Crane, Wilson, and Doyle on the team.

The track victory took away the rising feeling that Exeter could not be defeated. It was an added stimulus to that small group of never-say-die fellows who came back in the fall of 1915 hoping against hope for victory in football.

A short season of practice and an easy victory over Cushing increased our hopes. But in a scrimmage on the Wednesday following the Cushing game, Captain Gleason received a knee injury that kept him on crutches until the Exeter game. Each successive week added new victims to the injured list; the result was, when we finally lined up before Exeter, six of our best players were little better than cripples. A defeat of 37 to 7 was chalked up against us, whereas, with ordinary luck, a victory might well have been ours. On this team we had Captain Gleason, Davis, Waters, Boltwood, Wilson, A. Russell, W. Russell, Rowe, Dyer and Wanamaker.

The swimming team captained by Searle, and the wrestling team captained by W. Russell, had seasons, which while not of the best, were not to be complained of. On the swimming team we had Fullerton, Bolton, and Crane, and on the wrestling team Townley and Captain W. Russell.

Both our relay and hockey teams were defeated. On the relay team we had Lumpkin, Brennan, and Swift. Tom Ashley was captain of hockey; on his team we had Crane, Wanamaker, Boltwood, and Thurlow.

The track team captained by A. Russell was defeated 69 1-2 to 26 2-3. On it we had Captain A. Russell, Gleason, Shedden, Eaton, Morse and Thompson.

Charles Faherty won five out of seven baseball games, but was finally defeated by Exeter, 2 to 1, in one of the hardest played, most intense games ever witnessed between the two schools. Warren, Brennan, Wilson, and Crane were our representatives.

We now arrive at our Senior year.

PHILLIPS ANDOVER

Goaded by three defeats in football, three in baseball, and two in track, encouraged by a generous supply of promising material, and stimulated by an unusual show of Andover spirit, a football team was soon rounded off far superior to any we had hitherto had. Three victories out of possible five, and a steady progress of a well balanced team added materially to our hope for victory. But our New Hampshire rivals, aided by an undue amount of good fortune, were again victorious. Score, 6 to 0. We had on the team Captain W. Russell, Warren, Boltwood, Davis, A. Russell, Munger, Wilson, Dresser, Crane, Jones, and Lamberton.

Little is left to be told. Both the swimming and the wrestling teams have had good seasons. We had Captain Bolton, Crane, Penfield, and Stearns on the swimming team, and Captain W. Russell, Townley and Dines on the wrestling team. Our hockey team captained by George Allen won from Exeter 2 to 1. On it we had Wanamaker and Crane. Our relay team lost. On it we had Brennan and Lumpkin.

In looking over the history of other classes there seems to be none that has so many defeats to account for. Ours is an unfortunate share. But we are not crying over spilled milk; we are not cursing fate for our misfortune; we are going after Exeter next year.

BATTALION OFFICERS

The Andover Battalion

PHILLIPS ACADEMY Cadet Corps, organized in March for the purpose of stimulating preparedness in Phillips Academy Andover, has been continued successfully during the Spring term. Fully 480 men including all but 20 of those at present enrolled, have enlisted in the battalion. At present four companies are in operation, thus giving the normal battalion strength of four companies. All the men have uniforms of Government cotton khaki similar to those used at recent Plattsburg Camps and the members of the corps also wear special hat cords of blue. A fine stand of colors has been presented by Clyde Martin of the Class of 1910. A Drum Corps including several buglers has also been developed and is used on special occasions. The work has been carried on under supervision of Dr. Peirson S. Page, Physical Director of the School, but has been arranged by various men from the Faculty and many students who have had training at Plattsburg or Plum Island. At the opening of the present term, work was stimulated by the assistance of Lieutenant Harry Frothingham of Boston who has had experience at six Plattsburg camps, and Captain John Knowles also of Boston, who holds a commission in the Reserve Officers Corps. Work during the spring term consisted of lectures by Lieutenant Frothingham and Captain Knowles, occasional maneuvers with direct work in patrolling and deploying and close order formations. Four days in the week have been devoted to military training. The school is fortunate in having five ranges of 75 yards each for the sub-caliber rifle and it has at its disposal out-door distance ranges of the Lawrence Militia located at Frye village. Those who engage in shooting at the long ranges were obliged to qualify first on the sub-caliber ranges. The interest taken in this work by the students was far greater than anyone anticipated and the results achieved were impressive even to those of army experience. As all athletics have been dropped at the school except ball games between the different companies on Tuesday and Saturday afternoons, the development of this work in one of the oldest academies in the country has been closely watched.

THE PHILLIPS-ANDOVER BATTALION

“Somewhere In Paris”

(Our Unit arrives in that well-known city, bag and baggage and then some. The scene is “Baul Mich,” wherever that is. Time: about noon. Enter from the right William Boardman Knox, well known orator of the Hill. He is becomingly attired in his pajamas which he has forgotten to change for more timely apparel, and is shouldering a tooth-brush. Glancing ferociously about him he declaims thus:)

Man delights me not; no, nor woman either.

’Tis the breathing time of day with me.

(Enter a newsgirl shouting “Extra!” in French. We’ve forgotten how they say that. Anyway, she does, and, seeing Bill attired thusly does not hesitate, but approaches him waving the paper in his face. He takes it, remarking:)

For this relief, much thanks, ’tis bitter cold,

And I am sick at heart.

(He makes a ballet skirt out of the paper, and exits dancing the “Houdini Wiggle.” When the last convulsion has died away, there enter from the right Pates Boyle and Harold Buckley, in a Tin Lizzy, a l’Ambulance. The blamed thing stops half-way across — well across anything. Pates jumps out and tries to crank it. But Lizzy is capricious; she only coughs consumptively and lapses into glum silence. Pates tries again. Harold remarks, from the steering-geer:)

Give thy thoughts no tongue, Playford!

PATES: Something is rotten in the state of Denmark!

HAROLD (springing some French): Je vous croys beau.

PATES: (ad exasperatum): O day and night, but this is wondrous strange. But list! I have an idea! (He gets behind the reluctant one and whispers it one of his sundry little ditties, with which we are familiar. Very soon the sluggish Elizabeth, with a startled expression in her lamps, heaves and starts more than perceptibly).

HAROLD and PATES (ensemble, tout de camp, etc.) Ye-a-a-a! (Exeunt).

(Sounds of “California and You” being whistled off-stage. Enter Tommy Joyce carrying a large trunk of baseballs, mits, gloves, bats, etc. Stopping mid-way he orates:)

Who would fardels bare,
To grunt and sweat under a weary load
But that the hope of something like a game
In this discovered country from whose bourn
I may perhaps return, puzzles my will
And makes me rather bear these duds I have
Than fly to others that I know not of?

(Meditating thus, he bumps into a French pastry-cook, who, considerably ruffed up, Charliechaplins him with a handful of cream puffs. Exit Tommy, looking like a shaving brush on a spree, murmuring:)

Nymph, in thy orisons
Be all my sins remembered.

(Orechestra strikes up "It Wasn't Your Fault". Voice, off-stage: "Come, my coach! Good-night, sweet ladies, good-night!" Enter Jack Wright, futurist and Frenchman, with a volume of de Maupassant under his arm. There is a distinct atmosphere of "savoir faire" about him, not to mention "fleur-de-lis" and "a la cas-serole!" Coming to front of the "Baul" he chants, a la vers libre:)

Eh bien!
Kessa ker say ker sela ker sela ker sela!
O clare duh la luner
Mon amee Isadore D. Runken,
Allay-vous on!
Parley-voo fransay?
Do they think of me at Washington Square
Where
The policemen quote Virgil
And the
Bus-drivers
Wear sport-shirts?
Or, do they,
In their briggish uffonety
Snigore me with
Ultra-violet lucie?
Ah, ser we, set we — — — —
Kessa ker say, ker sela ker sela?

(Weeping, he swims off, stopping a moment to draw a picture of a hand grenade that happens to flit coyly past him. He writes under the picture, as its title "Poor Butterfly," holds it off to inspect it carefully, nods his head and continues his course. As soon as he is comfortably off-stage, a football lands between two hitching posts. (Ed.'s note: Do they have hitching-posts in Paris?) An hour elapses, during which time there is a great deal of ballet-russing, not to mention hula huling. In the midst of the uproar enters Paul Crane, the —, yes, you know. He looks worriedly about him; seeing the football he pounees gladly upon it, whistling meanwhile "Oh, They're Kieking Them Higher in Hawaii." Finally he ceases his melodious endeavors and eeos (to the foot-ball):

You poor dear! You haven't had a blowing up for twenty-four hours, ever since I kicked you over here from Bordeaux. Pauvre enfant! Petite pomme-de-terre! Gentil coehon! (A policeman passes, seeing our Paul, he bows and says:)

PHILLIPS ANDOVER

"B'jour, Monsieur Crane! Est-ce-qu'il ya quelquechose que je peux vous donner?"

(Paul, with eglantine expression of cyebrows, merely replies modestly):

"Oh, oui, silver plate. Voulez-ous-vous aller au diabel, et—" (The Policeman naturally gets sore and breaks out (no, not eczema — Ed.)):

"Quoi? Nom de nom d'un chien! Sacrebleu! Vive la France! Mayonnaise!" (But Paul isn't fussed, he merely answers):

"Well, if you want to get huffy, we'll just put on the ol and —" (Exit Policeman very much P. D. Q. Sounds of chorus singing "Little Old Ford etc!" Enter chorus, namely, the rest of the gang, led by "Fred" and B. Bruce, second cousin to Charlotte. They line up, tout ensemble, singing "Old P. A.")

There's a skirmish of wit between them
 Some of us will smart for it
 You two are book-men.
 Beholding heaven and feeling ill.
 For men may come and men may go
 But I go on forever
 With malice toward none, with charity for all
 Which I have earned with the sweat of my brows
 One vast substantial smile
     Oh never star
 Was lost here but it rose afar
 The charge is prepared, the lawyers are met
 The judges all ranged — a terrible show!
 And deal damnation round the land
 Satire's my weapon
 There's nothing like being used to a thing
 Get money; still get money, boy
 'Tis pleasant, sure, to see one's name in print
 So we'll go no more a-roving
 So late into the night
 Let us have wine and women, mirth and laughter
 Sermons and soda-water the day after
 And puts himself upon his good behaviour
 I awoke one morning and found myself famous

LAWRENCE

I wandered on this lovely hill, an exile on a stranger hill,
And all about me hung the banners of the dying day;
And melancholy's doleful hue was greyer than a spectre's hue,
My heart was sad and empty quite, I knew not what to say.

But suddenly I glimpsed the fields, the purple hills and rolling fields
Beneath the saffron shade of evening slowly coming down,
And then my heart grew light again, my grief began to slip again,
For yonder in the distance gleamed the lights o' Lawrence town.

*The yellow lights o' Lawrence town,
The luring lights o' Lawrence town,
I dropped my cares and troubles down
To see them shimmering there.*

And I began to sing again and all at once to dream again
Of laughter and of music and of maidens gay and fair;
And all the night was sweet to me, my worldly cares were nought to me
An incense from an unseen height fell gently on the air.

The twinkling lights o' Lawrence town,
The dancing lights o' Lawrence town,
They beckoned, beckoned "Come on down!"
I wish that I might dare!

PHILLIPS AND OVER

There may be joy in Lawrence town, in yellow, twinkling Lawrence town,
There may be many pleasures which we pine away for here.
But oh, how changed the whole place is, how very different it is,
For when you're in old Lawrence you're a little bit too near.

And so I think it's pretty true and always will be rather true
That there are some things on this earth that are better far than near
And Lawrence town is one of them and always will be one of them —
But, oh the lights o' Lawrence town, they promise very dear!

The smiling lights o' Lawrence town
The mocking lights o' Lawrence town,
They beckon, beckon "Come on down!"
But — I think I'll stay up here!

BORG: "Yes, sir."

MR. NEWTON: "How do you know?"

BORG: "They have a strong resemblance, and their Homogeneous sides are in proportion."

He has a gallon of words to every spoonful of thoughts.

The Romantic Side of Prep School

Yea! To-night's Friday! What are you going to do? — Go fussing, aren't you? Sure!

Early in the evening there floats in the air around the hill a heavy perfume of cold cream, bay rum, and talcum powder, the latter applied so there won't be anything irregular about taking a bath on any but Saturday nights. All the Phillips Academy boys are going. As the hour approaches nine a steady stream of "young hopefuls" pours down the street. They gather "en masse" in the quadrangle of a nearby seminary, whispering excitedly, some giggling with nervousness. From inside the girls can be heard playing the piano, and the harp, and singing nonchalantly.

Presently a loud alarm bell clangs violently. It is mingled with delightful feminine shrieks. The boys without in the moonlight snatch off their hats and thrill expectantly. A perfect cloud of beautiful girlish visions swarms upon them. For a moment there is wild confusion as varied young cavaliers dash about, exclaiming, "Have you seen Stella?" or "Where's Betty?" Then matters right themselves, and young couples linked arm in arm can be seen disappearing in the gloaming.

In the main doorway of the school building a fair chaperone stands, beaming benignly on this sweet scene of youthful ardour and romance. Before her is gathered a little group of "Preps" who have not as yet been initiated into the gentle ways of getting a girl.

"Isn't is lovely?" she finally coos to them.

"Yes!" they answer breathlessly.

"Now, you dear boys," she continues, "let me see what I can do for you."

They follow her inside into a large room in which are gathered the bewitching young lady "Preps". The latter, huddled together, and in their fluffy pink and white dresses looking for all the world like a brood of dear little chicks, cast shy, maddening glances at the new arrivals, who are completely demoralized, and stand about, gawkishly scraping their feet and loudly chewing their gum, completely forgetting they are not on the farm any more but in the refined atmosphere of Andover.

"Now, let's see, young man," says the fair chaperone softly to one of the fascinating boys. "What sort of a young lady do you fancy?"

"A tall, dark, handsome one," he replies modestly.

"Isabella Ver de Ver," she finally calls, and an adorable apparition, blushing quaintly, detaches herself from the group.

The young gallant steps forward and proffers his arm. With a cute little curtsy she takes it, and together they join the others in the moonlight.

In like manner each noble boy is blessed with a heart's desire — all but one, who is a bit too worldly for this Arcadian paradise and asks for a girl that is "short and plump, with a dash of speed".

Outside beneath the smiling old moon the conversation one might overhear would be like random lines in the Cosmopolitan or Snappy Stories. A subtle sense of youth, beauty, and throbbing heart-strings pervades the scene. Truly, romance still flourishes at Andover.

A TALE OF CUTS

One cut, not so bad.
Two cuts, worse, by Gad!
Three cuts, awfully sad.
Four cuts, might be better.
Five cuts, home goes a letter.
Six cuts, I'll try to be good.
Seven cuts, I wish I could.
Eight cuts, home I go
To Parents, with my tale of woe.

Much study has made him lean and pale and leaden eyed.
A little moustache on a young man grew.
A lion among ladies is a most dreadful thing.

Called into National Service

America may well be proud of the way her college men are coming to the Colors—alert, fit, eager for service.

It is characteristic of the American college man that he is strong for the Gillette Safety Razor.

The efficient man demands efficiency in his belongings.

The Armies and Navies of the world use the Gillette. Practically every successful man in the civilized globe is a Gillette owner.

Time is short—crowded with big affairs.

The Gillette works right in with the busy man's day—the clean, quick, cool, velvet-smooth shave, and No Stopping, No Honing.

A Gillette at $5 saves its own cost over and over again every year—and it saves time for the bigger things of life. New Blades 50c and $1 the packet—a fraction of one cent a shave.
